KENTUCKY'S

Most Famous Character Dies Near Crab Orchard A Nervy Man.

Crab Orchard, Ky., Feb. 8. Grove Kennedy, one of the most noted characters produced by Central Kentucky, died at his home on his farm, near this place, after a short illness of double pneumonia. Kennedy was in his seventy-third year and for years had led a peaceful life. After being pardoned by Governor Blackburn for the murder of his uncle, Eb Kennedy, at Lancaster, in 1879.

His death while due primarily to pneumonia, was hastened by the death of his son, Jim Kennedy, in hospital at Frankfort after an operation for appendicitis.

In the early eighties Grove Kennedy was the most prominent figure in Kentucky's criminal record. In 1879 he had a quarrel with his homicide, Eb Kennedy over the affairs of his wife. Later they met in front of the courthouse and Grove shot his uncle dead.

Kennedy was captured and was taken to the hotel for safekeeping. As he passed along the passage going to a room where he was to be confined, his wife seized him a revolver with the aid of which he held up his guard and made his escape.

Gov. McCreary offered $500 for his capture, and finally Marshall Hunter of Bardonia got him in the wilds of Lincoln. The prisoner was tried and given a new trial and sentenced to 21 years. He was pardoned by Gov. Blackburn.

After his release Kennedy returned to Lincoln and for years he lived peacefully and with the respect of his neighbors.

Struck By Freight Engine.

Tuesday afternoon a north bound freight train, known as the "slinger load" struck a team of horses belonging to Mr. T. M. Estes and driven by Jim Gibbins a young white man. One horse was instantly killed and the other so badly injured that it was shot. Mr. Gibbins received five wounds varying from one to five inches long; his hip was cut, body considerably bruised and skull slightly fractured. He was removed to Eastern Hospital and is now considered out of danger. The accident occurred at the crossing of the Lebanon & Louisville Co. plant, where a north bound train cannot be seen until almost at the crossing. The noise of the empty wagon driven by Mr. Gibbins prevented his hearing the approaching train. Marion Falcon.

Billions of Years Old. A petrified prehistoric shell embedded in the heart of a large piece of blue limestone, was discovered a few days ago by quarrymen working at Cheddar Hills, Wales, upon some large boulders of stone which were floated in the middle which occurred some years ago. The discovery is distinctly interesting to the geologists on account of the great age of the find, as situated upon a very low strata, it must be millions of years since the small lived.

Affection Retained. When Alford Jones was 18, he became Miss Alyse Jones. When she went to enter a normal school she was asked her name by the dean. She replied: "Miss E. Alyse Jones—Alford." "Yes," said the dean, "and how are you spelling Jones now?"

Why cough? Stop it!

Stop coughing! Coughing rashes and tears. Stop it! Coughing prepares the throat and lungs for more trouble. Stop it! There is nothing so bad for a cough as coughing. Stop it! Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is a medicine for coughs and colds, a regular doctor's medicine. Sold for seventy years. Use it! Ask your doctor if this is not good advice.

Unless there is daily action of the bowels, no person can be healthy. Coughing, colds, croup, whooping cough, headache, biliousness, nervousness, dyspepsia. We wish you would ask your doctor about correcting your constipation by taking laxative doses of Ayer's Pills. Made by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Given Life Sentence

Ben Robinson, slayer of Manson Isaacs, whose trial was begun in the circuit court last Thursday was on Saturday convicted, and his punishment at life imprisonment in the penitentiary. Three of the jurors were in favor of death on the first ballot. Robinson, through his attorney Ben Spaulding, has asked for a new trial, but as yet the court has not passed on the matter.

Robinson, who is 26 years of age, shot and killed Mr. Isaacs on the 16th day of last August. Robinson came to Kentucky a year or so ago from Georgia, and at the time of the shooting was a tenant on the farm of Elijah Glascock, whose farm is close to that of Mr. Isaacs. Robinson claimed that a crop of corn in which he had been interested had been damaged by hogs that he said he believed belonged to Mr. Isaacs, and that when he went to see him he was ordered from the place. Robinson said that Mr. Isaacs took hold of his coat and shoved him, and that believing he was acting in self-defense he drew his pistol and fired. It was afterwards learned that the hogs did belong to Mr. Isaacs and that he had no intention of doing any harm.

It was on the 27th day of May, 1873, that Dr. Granville C. Alfred was murdered at his home in the north part of Washington County by George Miller Alfred. At the September term, 1874, of the Washington circuit court an indictment was returned by the Grand Jury of which Samuel R. Grundy was foreman, against Alfred and his brother Edward, charging them with the murder of Dr. Alfred by striking him with an axe or other deadly weapon. It seems from statements of persons who remember the facts, that the trial showed that Edward was not connected with the crime in any way. The Alfred brothers were colored men who lived near the home of Dr. Alfred and after Miller had killed the doctor he did not know of what he had done. Edward was scared and fled with Miller, who went to Pennsylvania, and while working with a comrade told him of his crime, and it was reported to the authorities. He was brought to Springfield, Mo., by the Washington circuit court, and on the 10th day of March the following jury was empaneled and sworn to try the case: George Noon in W. H. Harmon, Joseph Nally, John R. Barfield, C. B. Bagley, Thomas Wall, Thomas Newton, John Reed, S. B. Alford, Thos. Dickerson, Milton Gray and Edward Reed. The trial lasted until the 11th when the jury returned the following verdict: "We of the jury find the prisoner guilty and fix his punishment at death." A motion for a new trial was denied. The new trial was daily filed.

OLD TRAGEDY

Recalled By News of Whereabouts of Supposed Accomplice

Telegram received from Bristol, Tenn.

A telegram has been received here by A. M. Duncan, acting County Attorney, from Bristol, Tenn., asking as to whether Edward Alfred was wanted for the murder of Dr. Granville Alfred at Springfield thirty-nine years ago. While it would be of little use to bring him back here even if there had been a strong case against him, as practically all of the witnesses who testified in the case are dead, yet the fact of Edward being apprehended recalls an old tragedy which occurred in the county in the year 1873.

Croup Ends Life

MANY CHILDREN DIE OF CROUP EVERY YEAR BEFORE A DOCTOR CAN BE SUMMONED

Parents of children should be prepared at all times for a sudden attack. Keep in the house a remedy that will give instant relief and keep the child from choking until the arrival of a physician.

Get a 2-cent bottle of HYOMEI today and in case of an attack of croup pour two drops into a tumbler bowl of boiling water and inhale the steam over the bowl so that it can breathe the soothing, penetrating vapor that arises. In the meantime send for a physician.

Congressman Johnson

One of the ablest and most courageous Democrats in Congress is Hon. Johnson, chairman of the District of Columbia committee, and we do not suppose there is another member of the House of Representatives so thoroughly hated by the grafters and Treasury rulers who have for years been looting the general Government through the District appropriation bills, as this same Democratic Democrat. Ben Johnson made a name for himself in his native State, serving as a member of the Legislature, Internal Revenue Collector, as Speaker of the House, State Senator, and is now serving his third term in Congress. He is in the prime of life, tall, commanding presence, genial and cordial to all who meet him, and positive in his convictions when once made. That he has risen up the situation in the District pretty accurately, and has struck the grafters in the heart, is shown by the fact that he has a long record of things with a high hand in putting it in law. The brazen effrontery of the District grafters in making war upon him, even before he had been named as the chairman of the District committee, shows to what lengths this band of "bad citizens," so-called, will go.

That they have overplayed their hand and found that instead of a weakening, susceptible to their time worn customs of dishonest and social reaction; at best, courageous men—men anxious to do justice to all the people, inside and outside of the District of Columbia, has now dawned upon them with terrible force.—National Democrat.

Death Sentence Affirmed.

On January 30 the Court of Appeals affirmed the judgment of the Marion circuit court in the case of the Commonwealth vs. John Boorman and unless the Governor changes the findings of the court to life imprisonment of pardons him, Boorman will be executed at the Edwille penitentiary on some date to be named by the Governor.

The crime for which Boorman is sentenced to death was committed upon Miss Mary Latta, at the Sulphur Spring, near Lebanon, on Sunday afternoon Feb. 28, 1911. A few days later he was arrested, as was Clarence A. Ford also charged with the same crime and owing to the feeling against them were sent to the Louisville jail for safe keeping.

They were indicted at the April term of the circuit court and the case continued till a special term in July. After a jury has been selected a new trial was denied and a new trial was denied.

After hearing the evidence and argument of counsel, the jury quickly returned a verdict of guilty and fixed the penalty at death.—Marion Falcon.

Low's Young Dream.</

On next Monday the nation will celebrate the anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, one of the country's greatest Presidents and greatest characters, yet while the date of his birth is known with certainty, the place is lost sight of, still, his case is not the only one of his kind, and it is not strange word we remember that:

Seven cities claim to have been the birthplace of Lincoln.

Lincoln was not interested in establishing the place where he was born, for whether 'twas in hovel or in palace it mattered not. But there was something which gave him greater anxiety, and in that he was like Homer, he begged the place where he knew his parents had lived, and where he believed he was born, to clear his mother's name from the shame which his greatness had cast upon it. He wrote the officials of Hardin county, for a copy of his parents' marriage record, but they could not grant him relief which was not in their power. Unfortunately the attention of Washington county officials was not called to the matter until after Lincoln's death when the very best possible evidence—the record—was found, and we feel that if the immortal Lincoln were permitted one glance back to earth, his eyes would not fall on the Capitol at Washington, nor at his home at Springfield, Ill., but on the cabin in Larue county, but on the modest clerk's office in Springfield, Ky., where starting the world in his face, are the incalculable records of his and his parents' honor. This is a matter no longer dependent on what somebody said for men may die, but records preserve for generations. What Lincoln said as to his birth place is not to be taken without qualification. He was mistaken as to the place of his parents' marriage, and why not as to his birth. He could remember little one as well as the other, and his understanding as to one was no better than the other. We still believe that Lincoln was born here, and our hopes are not dead yet, for we are still hoping for the time when Washington county will come into her own. Yet, be that as it may, we feel that we are infinitely greater in Lincoln's History, though we have to marble monument we have a greater monument—the records which performed the greatest service to Lincoln's memory that could be performed. Yes, we have a right to rejoice on Lincoln's birthday.

The Courier Journal, in writing of the dog law says:

"Unless it is intended in such a way as to limit the size of sheep claim it may as well be repealed."

While the primary object of the tax on dogs was for the benefit of sheep owners losing sheep by their incursions, yet it goes without saying that many of them have been incited to grossly abuse it, as every one knows who familiar with sheep claims. When a sheep worth $2.50 is killed by dogs, a claim is filed for $7.50 or $10.00. It is evident from this that it pays a sheep owner better to have his sheep killed than to let it roam to market, it is also evident that a remedy is necessary in order to correct the abuse that is being made of the law, either by legislation or by judicial construction and discretion in the Fiscal Court. Some courts have passed orders refusing to allow any claim for more than five dollars for each sheep killed. We think that a regulation of this kind would certainly afford adequate relief to sheep owners, in most instances. The meaning and intent of the law is being abused. The law never contemplated that the loser of sheep was to have full value for his sheep, much less double and sometimes treble the value, but

It was intended to be along the lines of insurance. It is well known that insurance companies do not take risks for more than the value of the building insured, because if they do the building too often burns. That the exorbitant and unreasonable claims that have been put in have been the result of persons trying to get full value for their sheep when they apprehended that the amount of money realized from taxes would be insufficient to pay to full all sheep claims, is not to be gainsaid, yet this is taking an unjust advantage of other sheep owners, and a false affidavit is made in order to do it. This fact alone which has doubtless been overlooked by many claimants. If the law remains unchanged we believe the abuses can be remedied by judicial construction of the law, and it ought to be done.

A Washington specialist to the Courier Journal states that Representative Powers will call on President Taft in a few days, in an effort to have a commutation of a sentence of death pronounced on a stored woman for killing her husband last summer. PASTOR DIVIDES A CHURCH

Yale Divinity Students' Resignation After Heresy Service Rejected by a Vote of 46 to 40.

New Haven, Conn.—The little town of Branford, seven miles east of here, is thoroughly aroused over the recent utterances of the Rev. Dr. C. W. Thompson, pastor of the First Congregational church, and report had it that charges of heresy might be made against him.—The Rev. Dr. Thompson, according to some of his critics, is ultra-liberal in his views.

Several weeks ago Mr. Thompson preached a sermon in which he said he believed most of the Bible was heresy.

John J. Cunningham, a deacon, led the attack upon the young pastor and he was supported by the other members of the church.

Opposed to the acceptance of the resignation of the pastor was the younger element, headed by William Hordless and Herbert E. Thatcher, a deacon. The resignation was rejected by a vote of 46 to 40.

Mr. Thompson is a senior of the Yale divinity school, coming here two years ago from Minnesota. His wife is here with him.

The second turned him around. The third jumped him back to where he started from. Then he shouted:

"Never! Never! Never! Warn him not to come! Tell him he'll walk into his own grave if he does! I believe it was his hand that put the article in the paper last Sunday. If you read it I should have made you a good deal of money."

"Oh, I don't know," replied the laughing daughter. "You see, we, as sufferers, don't care much. Rings."

Then George came and asked for wonderful death-bed confession."

"I am sorry to tell you, daddy, that there is still some news. Mr. Rayburn happened to be on the spot the other day when a man named Shane was run down by a street car. Mr. Rayburn is tender-hearted and generous, and he consoled the injured man and sent his wife Ed."

"Then he came back to where he started from. Then he shouted:

"All right, father. He'll naturally be disappointed, but he must put up with it. Then you are not going to elope?"

"Oh, no. I shall not marry without your consent."

"Oh, I don't know," replied the laughing daughter. "You see, we, as sufferers, don't care much. Rings."

"I am sorry to tell you, daddy, that there is still some news. Mr. Rayburn happened to be on the spot the other day when a man named Shane was run down by a street car. Mr. Rayburn is tender-hearted and generous, and he consoled the injured man and sent his wife Ed."

"Then he came back to where he started from. Then he shouted:

"Oh, no. I shall not marry without your consent."

"Oh, I don't know," replied the laughing daughter. "You see, we, as sufferers, don't care much. Rings."

Dorothy's Campaign

By John Philip Orth

(Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press.)

State Senator John Andrews, widower, with a daughter Dorothy, had heard things, but had been too busy starting his campaign for reelection to investigate them. These things had been about his daughter, and what they were he finally got around to say:

"Look here, they say you have gone into this nonsensical anti-graft business."

"Yes, father," was the quiet reply. "I want you to drop it."

"I will just as soon as my committee reports."

"Committee?"

"Yes. We have a committee on legislative graft, and I am the chairman of it. We have uncovered some things to astonish the public."

"What?"

"I think we shall be able to convict one or two men."

"Do, eh? Well, you won't, and I don't want you fooling with such things. All this talk about graft is pure moonshine. Who has been telling you a lot of stuff?"

"Mr. Rayburn. He's a young man on the 'Examiner,' you know."

"What, you are acquainted with any one on that disgraceful sheet?"

"Just Mr. Rayburn, and he's awful nice."

"Nice? Nice! Why the whole pack of them on that paper are liars and scoundrels! Do you know that they are pitching into me in almost every issue?"

"Yes, but I've heard you say that your record was as pure as that of any other man."

"Of course they don't," replied the senator as he hitched uneasily, "but one doesn't want the curs a yapping at his heels all the time. You just drop that young Rayburn like a hot potato."

"I think he is thinking of calling on you."

"If he does I'll throw him through a window!"

"Thinking of calling on you to ask for my hand?"

The senator gave three jumps. The first carried him ten feet from his chair.

"What?"

"I believe so."

"I think that Mr. Rayburn thinks that the document gets you good-nights. Don't they sometimes say that a man is caught with the goods on?"

"And there is something about a man's goose being cooked?"

"And with the three death-bed confessions in Mr. Rayburn's pocket, and with the 'Examiner' but on the trail, I think, daddy, dear—I think that you will be crowned under ten feet deep at the coming election!"

"But he wasn't. What does a poor, innocent girl know about the tricks of snow-white politicians? The senator fixed that thing in a day. Will Mr. Rayburn come calling again as he used to do perfectly at home, but he did high as he observed:

"You are worth it ten times over, but really I ain't based in do it."

"And Dorothy's answer was:

"But if you were a suffragette you would understand that graft must be met with graft. Daddy grafts the public and we graft him!"

Too Polite.

There are many humorous anecdotes current among his countrymen, which Chodo Mikoschich relates in "Servis of the Servants." The following neatly illustrates the point that there are other things more important than mere etiquette:

Karadich Choda took much trouble to teach his pupils how to behave politely. Among other things he taught them always to clap their hands and shout, "Havry! Havry!" (God bless you!) whenever they heard an older person speak.

Once the Choda, mending something in the oven pit for his garden, slipped and fell in. Nearly drowned in the deep water of the pit, he called to his pupils to bring a rope and drag him out.

The dutiful schoolboys soon found a rope and threw it down to their father, but when he had seized it, began to drag him out. Only a few feet more and he would be out of the pit—when, suddenly, he was roughly pulled as he was, he screamed:

"An instant all his pupils dropped the rope to their hands, shouting:

"Havry! Havry! Havry!"

The poor Choda fell back down to the bottom of the pit.

"Ah, it serves me right!" he cried, "I ought to have taught these boys common sense first and then politeness!"—YOUTH'S COMPANION.

Getting a Delightful Season.

An aerial expert says that in twenty years one will be able to go from New York to Europe in fifteen hours. "It will certainly be a delightful season for one to feel that he is getting away from New York at such speed as that."

German Students and Their Dogs.

Dogs are nowhere so much favored as in Germany, where the dog is almost a college student of Germany. Each student is apt to have one or more marked by the college colors, and trained to render service by carrying water, books, bundles and the like.

FIND LOST GIRL IN FILM

Russian Parents Make Moving Picture
Drama Reel—Living Actress Appears on Stage.

St. Petersburg.—A cinematograph film was instrumental in furnishing evidence in a picture show with a real live actress. While a scene in a play was being reproduced at a cinematograph theater here, a peasant and his wife, two of the spectators, recognized an actress in the picture as their long-lost daughter. The woman wept and her husband, shouting "My daughter is here," tried to force his way behind the stage, expecting to find his daughter.
To convince him that his daughter was not there, the manager had the curtains drawn up. Then, rising up the film from whom he got the film, the manager was informed that the actress was there and would set out for the theater at once. To the delight of the audience, the young girl appeared on the stage.

BOAT BREAKS SPEED RECORD

Motor Craft With Aeroline Engine Travels 140 Miles an Hour in New York State.

Rockport, N. Y.—A motor boat built along the general lines of a hull not fitted with an aeroline engine and propeller, has attained a speed of nearly 140 miles an hour in tests on Long Point bay during the past few days.

The boat is the invention of Lyman
J. Seely, a manufacturer of aeroline engines. The "aeroline" has a length of eight miles long, and the distance was covered in about four minutes, allowing for a slowing down of the engine.

The engine and propeller are attached to the front of the boat, which has two runners in front and one behind, the steering being done by a wheel attached to the rear runner.

and his wife and a further sum of £100 a week so that her dogs might be lifetime, and Mrs. Elizabeth Trotter of Hitcham left £250 a year to her

WOODROW WILSON

GREY DEMOCRAT

Judge Stringer of Illinois Recognizes Him as the Logical Leader of the Party.

IS FITTED FOR WHITE HOUSE

Statesman, Scholar and Proved Practical Executive, New Jersey Statesman Would Be Ideal Occupant of the Presidential Chair.

By LAWRENCE B. STRINGER, Democratic Candidate For the U. S. Senate From Illinois against McAlister.

When Mr. Woodrow Wilson was elected president, it was not only a triumph for the United States, but a triumph for the world.

Still while predisposed in his favor, until I had personally met and conversed with him, I was not convinced of his suitability as a candidate for President.

Since meeting Mr. Wilson, however, all doubt in that regard, in my own mind, has been removed.

Wilson is presidential timber of the exact kind and quality required at the present time. To begin with he is an intellectual giant, with a broad and comprehensive grasp of economic conditions which provides all of his political utterances with a solid basis.

PIGS IS PIGS' HIS QUEST

Professor Seizing a True Guinea Type to Battle All Doubt.

New York—Word was received here by New York specialists that Prof. William B. Castle was today in his quest for a pair of unusual guinea pigs amid the peaks of Peru.

Professor Castle is from Harvard University, and several guinea pigs are expected from his search in the interest of science. Experiments are being conducted in Schenck Hall, in Columbia University, and also in the Station of Zoology, at Cold Spring Harbor, to determine whether the guinea pig is really the ancestor of the human race.

The American breed are no longer guinea pigs, but are guinea pigs of the American breed. The professor has gone to the mountains of Peru to bring back a consignment of guinea pigs which are supposed to be of the true type. Meanwhile science must wait.

At every guinea, guinea pigs, even of the ancestral type, are Guinea pigs, and Guinea pigs are not pigs, but are guinea pigs.

Castle, a long trip from the mountains of Peru to the city of New York, is a long trip with only one pair of guinea pigs of the ancestral type, and no other guinea pigs of the ancestral type.

At any rate, the result in this city is a long trip from the mountains of Peru to the city of New York, is a long trip with only one pair of guinea pigs of the ancestral type, and no other guinea pigs of the ancestral type.

NEAT LITTLE TRUMP MARKER

Small Article That Will Be Appreciated by Those Who Play Cards.

This is a simple and practical trump marker, and it is one of those useful little articles which always come handy at a party. It should be carried out in a small size, and the design is suggested by the sketch, two and three-quarters inches by three and a half inches. It is made of cardboard, and is covered with soft white velvet, and is held together by a small clip, a spade, a diamond and a heart.

Representative Harrison Says British Have U. S. Navy Data.

Assess English Accountants Employed by Department Have Access to Records—Revelation Calling for Information.

Washington—Representative Francis Burton Harrison of New York demanded that the navy department tell whether it has been employing foreign accountants in capacities where they have had access to the confidential or secret process of manufacture in the navy yards. He introduced a privileged resolution calling on Mr. Meyer, secretary of the navy, for full information.

The New York Democrat made public a complaint of the New York State Society of Certified Public Accountants, which says in part: "Properly to install cost systems it is necessary for the accountants to familiarize themselves with the process of manufacture, material, labor, efficiency of various machinery and overhead expenses. Hence the secrets of the navy are accessible to British subjects employed as accountants. How easy it would be for secret agents of Great Britain to be employed on the staff of these chartered accountants in their navy yards."
